About

Description

Jacob is recognised by Legal 500 as a “Leading Partner” in Denmark within Commercial, Corporate and M&A and as a Notable Practitioner by IFLR1000.

Jacob is a specialist in M&A transactions. He has completed a very large number of M&A transactions, from small and medium-sized enterprises to international large-cap companies, and he has become one of the most sought-after advisors in the field.

Jacob often attracts large, international companies in the need of efficient, first-class legal advice in an M&A transaction, and he facilitates a targeted process with a solution-oriented and commercial focus on value creation.

In addition to his expertise in mergers and acquisitions, Jacob has extensive experience with corporate law. He has a strong understanding of investments and ownership structures, and he advises on a wide range of corporate matters.

Further, Jacob has studied finance and management at Cornell University and Harvard Business School. The combination of his legal background and a strong understanding of economic and commercial matters gives Jacob unique qualifications in for negotiating and drafting agreements related to M&A, investment agreements, financing agreements, and more.
